DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-5, 7-9 and 25 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3,5 and 15 of U.S. Patent No.

7,132,783. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both inventions deal with collection of particles of zinc oxide

having an average diameter of less than about 95nm (overlaps with pat. '783 15-100nm) and a distribution of particle sizes such that at least 95 percent of the particles have a diameter greater than about 40 percent of the average diameter and less than about 160 percent of the average diameter (also overlap with 60-140 percent of pat. '783). Regarding claims 7-9, US 20020075126 (copy attached) discloses that Zinc oxide particles can be used to produce various types of resistors.

TITLE: Multiple reactant nozzles for a flowing reactor

----- KWIC -----

Detail Description Paragraph - DETX (6):

[0043] In particular, laser pyrolysis is a convenient approach for the formation of zinc oxide nanoparticles. The crystalline zinc oxide nanoparticles have very small particle diameters and a very narrow particle size distribution. Zinc oxide powders are useful as phosphors and can be used in a variety of other applications, such as the production of electronic components, for example, resistors of various types.
